The AMEA Governing Board met at the Renaissance Hotel in Montgomery, Alabama on January 22, 2011. The meeting was called to order at 1:05 p.m. by AMEA President Steve McLendon. Present at the meeting: Steve McLendon, Garry Taylor, Pat Stegall, Karen Hickok, Carla Gallahan, Chuck Eady, Taylor Sparks, Sara Womack, Tim Phillips, Sharon August, Jane Powell, Dakota Bromley, Moya Norlund, John Cooper, Clay McKinney, Jody Powell, and Beth Davis.

President McLendon recognized and thanked each division for the outstanding conference.

Mr. Taylor noted that he will review each of the conference evaluations and then disperse them to the division presidents for review.

Each Division presented conference comments:

CMENC - presented a preliminary report on conference details and noted overall numbers were down. Possible reasons for this decrease may have been due to the increased cost in attendance and the Intercollegiate Band.

Higher Education - noted that a schedule change in the higher education events may improve attendance at events. The Peer-Review Committee is being formed and information will be in the Ala Breve.

Alabama Bandmasters Association - reported that exhibitors were concerned with less traffic through the exhibit area, possibly due to a large number of clinics. A suggestion was made to have a designated exhibit time for each division. The acoustics in the performance hall posed a concern, however the division is learning the stage and will make improvements for next year.

Alabama Vocal Association - expressed interest in choirs having the opportunity to warm-up on stage before concerts. Requested a water station be placed in the room with the Show Choir. Discussed the possibility of using a shell for performances.

Elementary/General Division - expressed many positive comments about the conference. Requested a place to store equipment before the conference begins to facilitate set-up. Suggested the presider information be placed in the AMEA Conference program to recognize their contribution.

Alabama Orchestra Association - reported a great conference and that they were pleased with attendance, performances, and clinics. A discussion occurred on the possibility of having an AOA reading session.

FAME (Future Alabama Music Educators) - Pat Stegall reported that FAME was fantastic, however attendance was down.

Mr. Stegall made suggestions for next year's conference including a coffee kiosk and fast food availability, providing exhibit time and encouraging everyone to attend the keynote address, and possibly having a "theme" for each conference.

Treasurer - Karen Hickok distributed a report on conference attendance with a division breakdown and noted that conference attendance (750 attendees) was up slightly. She also commented that parking was an issue at the conference and thanked everyone for their help during the conference.

President-Elect - Sara Womack suggested that small group performances between sessions would be a good addition to the conference. This year's ensembles worked well and this would provide additional opportunities for performances. Additionally, Womack reported on an Advocacy Committee meeting to focus on both music and arts concerns. She requested a volunteer from each division to serve on this committee.

Executive Director - Garry Taylor checked with each division president to discuss their room for the conference and additional needs. The decision was made to switch the AVA room and the Elem/General Music room for next year. He also inquired about concerns/comments regarding the hotel staff and the AV staff in the ballrooms.

Recording Secretary - Carla Gallahan thanked the AMEA Board for supporting the Inaugural Alabama Intercollegiate Band and reported that the experience was a tremendous success.

President - Steve McLendon discussed the presentation length and the importance of each event to adhere to the allotted time limit. He also commented that presidors should be well-prepared for their duty. Additionally, a discussion occurred on suggestions to improve educators accountability for clinic attendance. Sessions for joint division representation were also discussed.

Garry Taylor once again thanked everyone for a great conference. The AMEA Governing Board thanked the Alabama Intercollegiate Band for their work and commented on the outstanding performance.

The next meeting of the AMEA Governing Board will be held on June 16, 2011, 10:00 a.m., at the Renaissance Hotel.

President McLendon adjourned the meeting at 2:40 p.m.
